Welcome

The New Zealand Ship and Workboat Group (NZSWB) represents a wide range of companies that provide design, build, refit and supply services to the commercial ship and workboat sector.

Member companies operate independently but the NZSWB ‘umbrella’ presents their collective skills, coordinated by the NZ Marine Industry Association, as a formidable, one-stop-shop for commercial vessel projects. By working together, the companies under the Group are far more effective in servicing the international and domestic markets.

The New Zealand Marine Industry Training Organisation currently has over 500 marine apprentices and the growth in these numbers is a credit to the companies, including many in the Ship and Work Boat Group, who continue to employ and up-skill young people within the New Zealand Marine Industry.

Internationally, the New Zealand marine industry has enormous respect. We are generally acknowledged as one of the most innovative and efficient creators of high tech boats and marine equipment in the world.

This directory showcases some of New Zealand’s world-class commercial boat capability. We invite you to review and contact the companies listed with any of your ship and workboat needs.

Dave Hopkins and Peter Busfield
Servicing the international market with world-class design, build and services from New Zealand, the South Pacific hub.
